Pancho Villa Express Rides into Towne Centre

The hottest name in Mexican food is expanding its reach in northern Virginia. Pancho Villa Express will open its newest location at Spotsylvania Towne Centre, near Fredericksburg, on Saturday, December 5. The chalupas, chimichangas and other great offerings of Pancho Villa Express are already wildly popular with local diners who crave delicious, authentic dishes and friendly service at affordable prices.

The first Pancho Villa restaurant opened in Culpeper in 1993. It quickly developed a vast following of fans, and now operates eight Virginia restaurants as well as eateries in North Carolina and Michigan. It's a family-run business, founded by Eladio Pacheco and his wife, Maria.

The new Pancho Villa Express at Spotsylvania Towne Center will occupy a bit over 850 square feet of space in the food court, open during regular mall hours.
